Merchants cope with new taxes

But locally, some worry more shoppers will hop the state line to avoid paying new levies

By WENDY HANSCOM

Local merchants are coping with the inconvenience caused by the state's sales tax hike, adjusting their cash registers and listening to patrons grumble, but a number of local business people are concerned the sales tax will have a far more serious impact—driving customers across the border to do tax free shopping in New Hampshire.

The tax and fee increase in Maine will go to support the $3.2 billion budget package for the fiscal biennium 1992-93. With the increase, the state estimates that residents, businesses and tourists will have paid about $400 million more in taxes and fees by June 1993.

These increases may push some local shoppers, who already go out of town to make large household purchases such as televisions, furniture and appliances, to do even more shopping out of state.

"It puts merchants in Maine at a real disadvantage, especially if they're close to the border," said Rick Whitney, owner of Maine Line Products. "Being so close to New Hampshire is a disadvantage. We were selling with a 5 percent tax already and now it's 6 percent. I think it may encourage a lot of local people to go to New Hampshire."

Debbie Dennis of Bethel is shopping for five girls who need back-to-school clothes. While browsing in the Fashion Basket in Bethel last week she said that in the past she had never given much thought about where to buy for the girls. But now, she said "It made me think about where there were malls in New Hampshire."

Not all business owners agree that their customers would want to travel out of town, especially for convenience purchases.

Jeri Brooks at Brooks Bros. in Bethel said, "You'd have to have a pretty big list to make it worthwhile. It doesn't pay to go out of town with the price of gas what it is."

New Hampshire already has a restaurant and lodging tax, so local restaurateurs are not as concerned about their clientele heading west.

At Mother's, manager Sue Burnham said that the new 7 percent across-the-board tax for restaurants had actually simplified her business procedures. Before the new tax guidelines, alcoholic drinks were taxed at 10 percent and meals were taxed at 7 percent, she explained. Now everything the restaurant offers is taxed at 7 percent. "It makes adding checks and cashing up at the end of the day easier," she said.

Burnham added that many of Mother's customers are from Canada and Massachusetts, where taxes are as high or higher than Maine's. "I don't see that customers will be put off by our sales tax laws. Wherever else they come from it's likely to be the same there," she said.

Restaurants with a liquor license will, however, be hit with an increase fee for license renewal. The fee will rise $75 from $825 to $900 annually.

Local store owners are also waiting for a list of snack foods that the state wants taxed starting Sept. 1.

At Prim's Pharmacy, clerk Loretta Berry said personal size or single serving snack foods are taxed now. She said the state also allows tax on larger packaged snacks now—but only if the

Greenwood officials fear DEP ready to grant tire site license

Feel meeting with Marriott was fruitless

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Greenwood officials took their case against Peter Gordon's tire site to Augusta last week, but came away convinced their efforts had been wasted.

State environmental chief Dean Marriott, who had agreed to meet with the town officials before issuing a license for the site, listened to their concerns but indicated strongly that he would probably sign a license this week.

"A license will be signed. There's no question about it," said state Rep. Al Barth, R-Bethel, as he left the meeting.

(As of yesterday, Tuesday, the license had not yet been signed.) Barth had accompanied the Greenwood delegation, which consisted of the town's three selectmen and Greenwood Planning Board Chairman

Wayne Hakala.

The trip to Augusta was a last-ditch effort to prevent the licensing of Gordon's tire storage site on the Rabbit Road, which has been operating since 1986 without a license either from the DEP or the town (which in 1988 enacted ordinances regulating such sites).

According to town officials, the site (they describe it as a "tire dump"), has been operating in chronic violation of a number of environmental regulations and has continued to grow despite stop orders from both the town and the DEP.

To license the site now, they have argued, would only make a bad situation worse.

Specifically, town officials say the site represents a threat to groundwater, a serious fire hazard, and it poses a large financial liability to the town should it become necessary for the town to go in and clean it up if Gordon's business fails.

They also contend that Gordon's record of continued non-compliance with various regulations strongly suggests that he is unlikely to comply with either the terms of the license or with the recently signed consent agreement that calls for him to reduce the number of tires at the Greenwood site, as well as at two unlicensed sites in nearby Albany Township.

Greenwood officials also say the DEP is forcing the tire site on the town because the agency has been unable to find any other way to deal with the hazard represented by the large number of tires (estimated at more than half a million) Gordon has

U.S. Senate committee authorizes $5 million for Lake Umbagog refuge

Plans to develop a wildlife refuge at Lake Umbagog took a major step forward last week, when the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $5 million allocation to establish the refuge and to purchase an initial 6,381 acres of land.

The size of the appropriation—which must still be approved by the full Senate—came as a pleasant surprise to supporters of the refuge plan.

"From the information I had been getting, it looked like they would approve $1 million," said Jim Yarnell of Upton.

With $1 million "it would have been possible to get started, but things would have been pretty shaky," Yarnell said.

But with $5 million, he said, "there's a pretty good chance we will have a refuge up here that will eventually come to the full proportions of the recommendation (in the formal proposal by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service)."

Last week's committee recommendation was announced by Sen. Warren Rudman, who sponsored the proposal.

The project also has the backing of Maine Sens. George Mitchell and William Cohen, and New Hampshire Sen. Bob Smith.

Lake Umbagog, which straddles the Maine-New Hampshire border, is considered to be a unique natural area, serving as a nesting area for New Hampshire's only pair of breeding bald eagles. The 16,670 acres of wetlands surrounding Lake Umbagog host a wide variety of wildlife, including osprey, moose, loons, and harrisers.

"Although traditional land use patterns and private land stewardship have maintained the unique wildlife values of the study area, two factors now threaten the continued existence of wildlife habitats in the Umbagog area," Rudman had told the committee.

"First, there is increasing demand for lakeshore lands in the area," Rudman continued. "Second, there is growing concern over increasing potential for timberland sales to large land development corporations. Changes in ownership threaten wildlife habitat and traditional uses or access currently allowed by the paper companies."

Rudman further noted the Lake Umbagog area has been identified as a priority wetland site under the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986.

The refuge proposal calls for a

Sudbury Canada Days 1991

Saturday & Sunday August 10 & 11

Sudbury Canada was Bethel's name prior to the town's incorporation in 1796. It was so designated since the original grantees from Sudbury, Massachusetts had fought unsuccessfully to conquer Canada in 1690. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which owned Maine until 1820, rewarded these men with land in the District of Maine, naming it in honor of their Massachusetts town and the campaign in which they had served. This area was never part of Canada. Sudbury Canada Days honors the town's rich heritage dating from the 18th century.

Dump run to the loony bin

Greenwood officials bundled up all their worries about Peter Gordon's tire site and trucked them off to Augusta last week.

But for all the good it did, they might as well have stayed at home. The occasion was a meeting with Dean Marriott, commissioner of the state Department of Environmental Protection—who had promised to hear out Greenwood's concerns before issuing a license for the tire storage site.

But as the Greenwood officials feared beforehand, the meeting was clearly a political walk-through for Marriott, who had obviously made up his mind long since to issue the license.

So lightly did Marriott take the meeting, that to all appearances he hadn't bothered to brief himself on even the most basic facts of the matter.

He didn't know why no escrow account or bonding had been required for the license—a question raised in a recent letter from the Bethel Board of Selectmen. (Bethel would be the first responder in the case of a fire at the site.)

He didn't know that Greenwood had its own ordinances governing such a site, and that the DEP's request had held off on attempting to enforce them.

He didn't know what the Maine Supreme Court had recently ruled (in the case of Jay) regarding a town's ability to enact and enforce its own environmental regulations. (To his credit, he did know that there had been a ruling—he just wasn't sure what it was.)

And he had no idea how many licensed tire storage sites there were in the state, nor where they were located.

As unburdened as he was by the facts of the case, the commissioner was equally cavalier in his logic. Aside from their strictly environmental concerns about the project, Greenwood officials are worried above all about the town's financial liability should Gordon abandon the enterprise and walk away from the tire piles—leaving someone else to clean up the mess.

But the commissioner was not worried. After all, he argued, uncertainty is inevitable—with any proposal there's always the possibility that the project will go belly up.

Which is true enough. And why, in the absence of such certainty, responsible individuals—or officials—will make every effort to examine the best available evidence before rushing to judgment.

Greenwood officials believe the evidence argues convincingly against granting a license. So does Gordon's nearest neighbor, P.H. Chadbourne & Co. In a letter to the commissioner, Chadbourne "orester Don Feeney contended that the Gordons 'certainly cannot afford to maintain the tire facility or to close it properly in the future.'"

Ironically (perhaps), the DEP offices in Augusta are on the grounds of the Augusta Mental Health Institute—in buildings emptied by the 1970s policy of deinstitutionalization, which for better or worse left mentally ill persons to fend for themselves in the community.

Perhaps it's time for the state to consider a similar policy for its environmental bureaucrats—to give them a therapeutic kick out of the nest, into the real world.

Such a rude awakening would quickly disabuse them of the fantasy that their elaborate plans, regulations, licenses and consent agreements bear any relation to reality as it is experienced by the non-institutionalized.

Greenwood officials would not be delighted to sponsor a halfway house on the Rabbit Road.

Letters to the editor

CAMP'S BAD NEWS

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the story on Camp Good News that appeared on this front page of the July 24 issue of The Citizen. While the camp proposal may seem like a good idea to Harold Clukey and to the backers of Camp Good News, to the residents and year-round citizens of Twitchell Pond the camp proposal is anything but good news.

The sheer scale of the proposed camp (chapel, dining hall, administrative building, shower and toilet facilities and 12 camps) is enormous in comparison to the size of the pond. They raise serious questions about the capacity of the land and the pond to carry such a huge project—questions including threats to habitat, wildlife, water quality, road access, and child safety with the increased traffic, let alone the other questions about road maintenance, trash disposal, and threats of vandalism from "voluntarily" supervised teens.

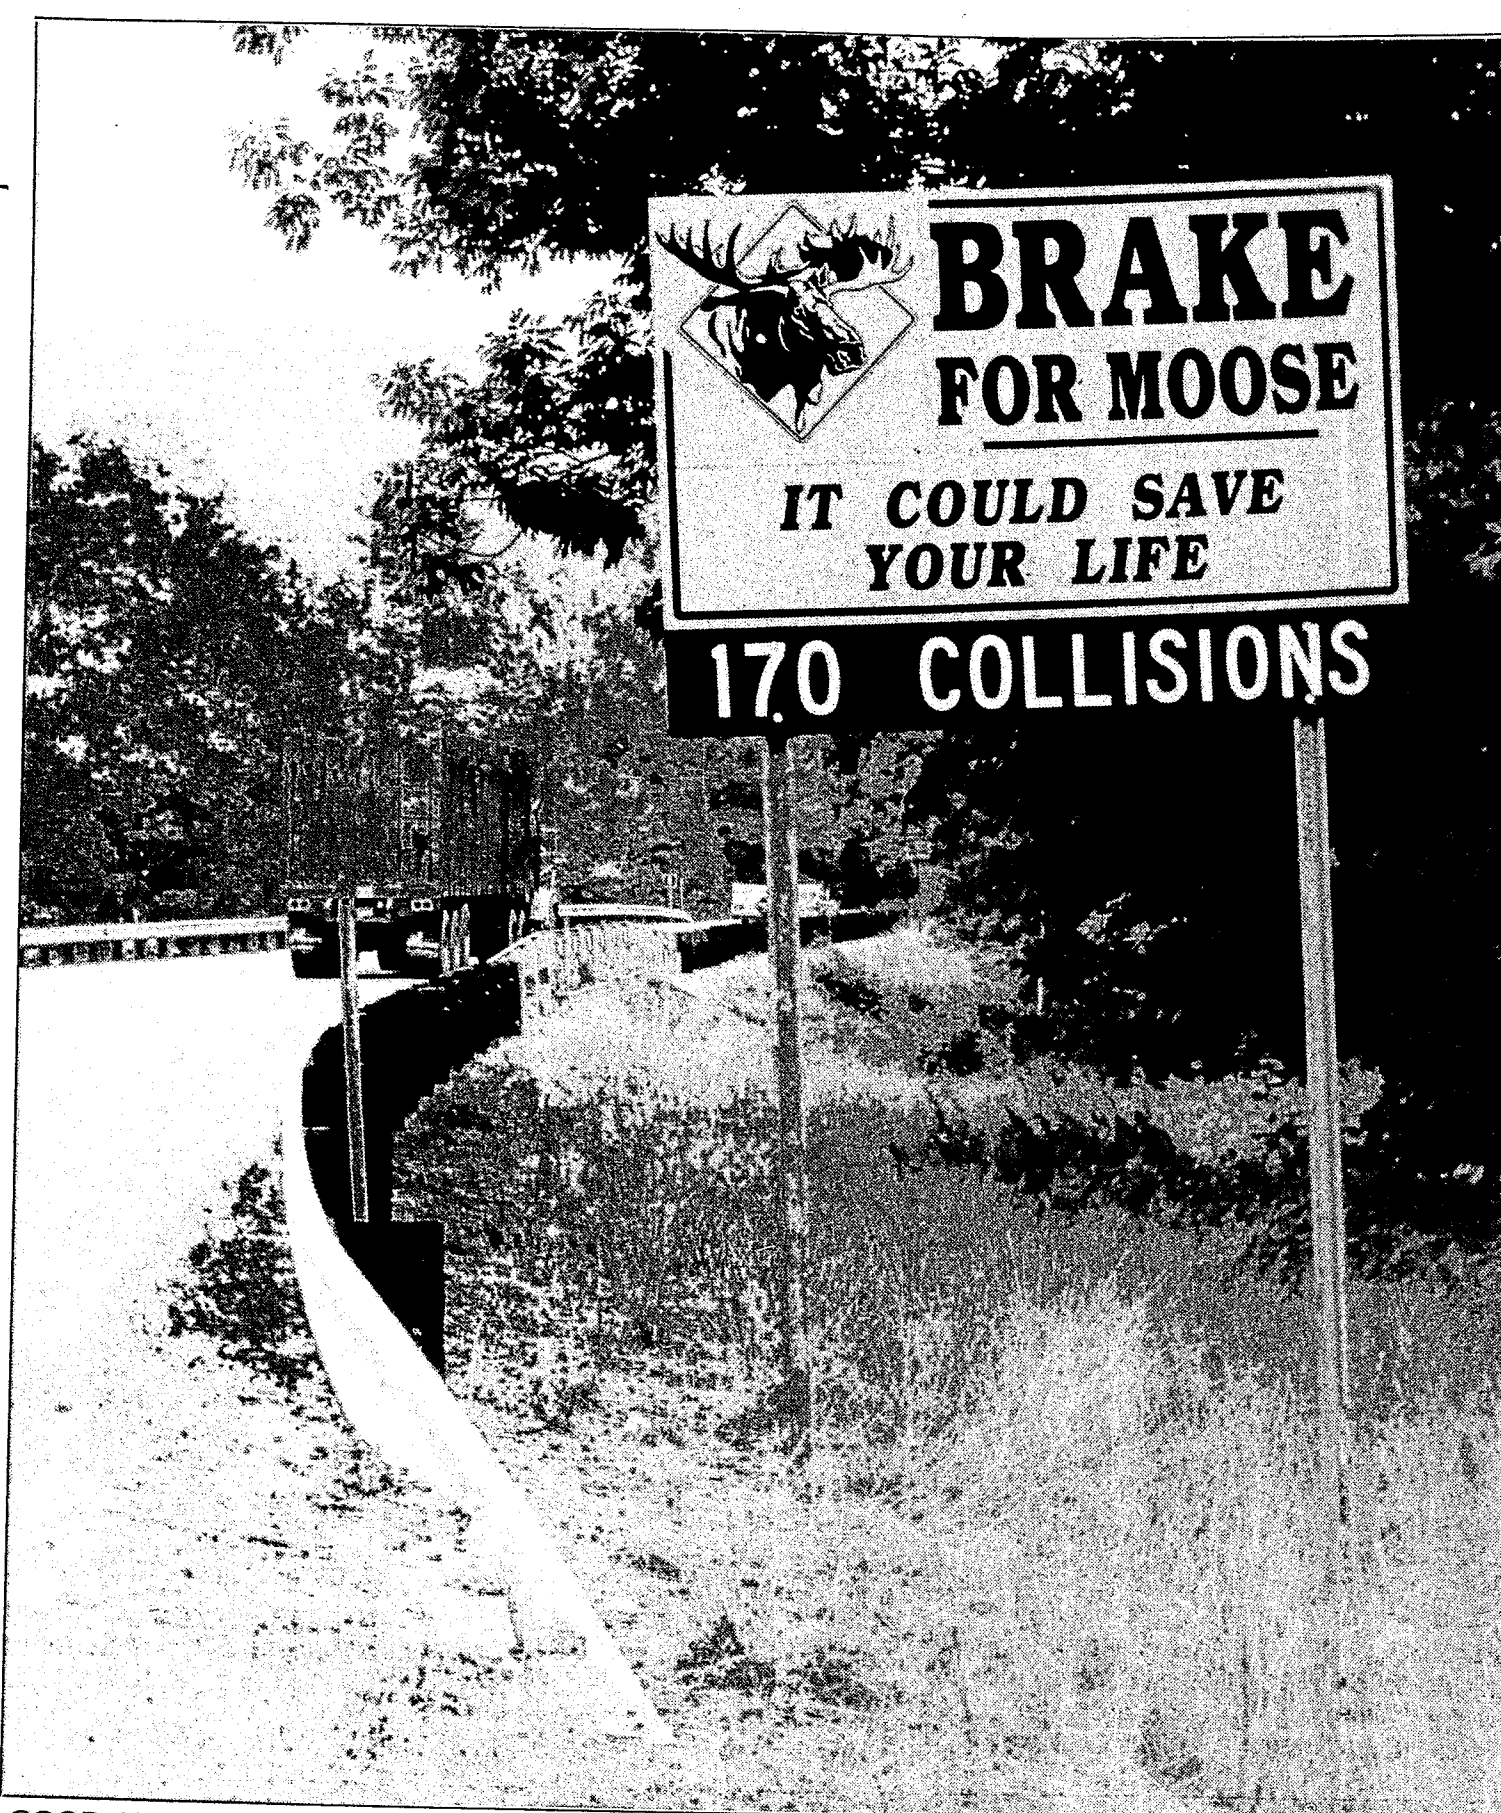

In addition to the project size, Camp Good News is projecting 75 campers per week for six weeks. That is a very large, weekly, increase in traffic on our one-lane dirt road that will be occurring each and every weekend of the six-week period as parents pick up and deliver children to the camp, let alone other traffic from the camp as they go off on field trips, shopping trips, medical emergencies, etc. This is a serious threat to child safety for the many children already living on the pond as well as damaging to the dirt road (who is going to pay for this damage?).

As it stands now, the proposal is completely inappropriate for Twitchell Pond (contrary to the description in The Citizen, Twitchell Pond is not a lake—it's too small). Already, a 1990 report on the water quality of the pond has shown increased levels of oxygen depletion. Their drinking water directly from the lake. There are many fish in the lake and we even have a pair of nesting loons as well as ducks and other waterfowl. How long will this wildlife be able to withstand such dramatically increased pressures on the pond?

While Camp Good News, no doubt, has only good intentions in its proposal to make the pond accessible to teens in the summer, the proposal as reported is poorly planned, shortsighted, and a genuine threat to the pond's water quality, child safety, habitat and road maintenance and access. I feel that the very qualities which currently make Twitchell Pond so appealing to the folks at Camp Good News would be destroyed, or at least seriously damaged by this proposal.

GOOD, NEIGHBORLY ADVICE—This sign, across the state line in Shelburne, N.H. advises motorists to use caution when driving in areas frequented by the North Country's biggest four-legged traffic hazard. The 170 collisions all took place in 1990 and include only those in which the moose was known to have been killed. The collisions have also caused a number of human fatalities. With the local moose population on the increase, the number of car-moose accidents so far this year is up, both in New Hampshire and Maine.

CLEAR-CUT RAPINE

To the Editor:

A case of ecological rape is evident in our community. There are many types of ecological disaster, but none seem so upsetting as those brought about by the unbridled greed of man. This particular "disaster" is evident from the Bear River area and probably there are other views of it, also. I'm referring to the plunder of Swan Hill off the Middle Intervale Road. Take a trip up there and see for yourself. Perhaps your reaction will be the same as mine. In the face of something so devastating there is nothing that can be said to describe the wantonness of modern clear-cutting. The West has nothing on us!

WALKERS SLIGHTED?

To the Editor:

It's still a jogger's world? Walking has become the country's fastest growing and favorite form of exercise. You wouldn't know it by the treatment it was given on Mollycoddett Day.

The walkers' event was not listed in the official program. I took part in the three-mile walk, along with my two sisters from out-of-town. After the event was over no mention was made of the walk and we were unable to obtain our official time for the walk. I realize it was a non-competitive event but our "time" was important to us for the following reasons:

- Walking a mile in 12 minutes will give you the same health benefits as jogging a mile in nine minutes.
- Walking four miles per hour to five miles per hour can increase your cardiorespiratory fitness by more than 15 percent—a rate comparable to running or jogging, but with far less risk of orthopedic injury.
- Walking at any speed can increase HDL blood cholesterol (the "good" cholesterol).

These are the latest facts from the Institute for Aerobics Research. Walking has a lot to recommend it for both young and old. Anybody can do it and it doesn't cost anything. All you need is a pair of comfortable shoes. So let's encourage walking every way we can. Try it—you'll like it. Hope to see many more of you at the Mollycoddett Day Walk next year.

PROJECT GRADUATION DESERVES OUR SUPPORT

To the Editor:

The CADET Community Drug and Alcohol Awareness Team for SAD #44 extends warm thanks for the continued support the community has shown for the annual Project Graduation for Telstar students.

The 1991 Project Graduation took our young people to the Ramada Inn in South Portland the night of graduation, where they swam in the indoor pool, ate pizza and other "goodies," played various games, and generally had a good time. The next day they were bussed to Burger King for breakfast and then to Funtown USA for a day of memorable experiences. They were complimented by the management of the Ramada Inn for their behavior. In spite of the fact that the swimming pool was kept open until 2 a.m., not a single complaint was made to the management concerning loud noise or unacceptable behavior.

We have reason to be proud of our young people. Their response to the opportunity provided for them is truly gratifying. None of this would have been possible without your generous support. Please consider continuing your financial support of this project for the graduating class of 1992.

We will also be needing new faces to plan next year's Project Graduation, raise money for expenses, and chaperone the event. Please consider volunteering for this important task. The young people need you.

If you are interested in being part of the effort to show our young folks how to enjoy life without harmful and addictive chemicals, call me at 824-2136. I will be glad to explain further our needs and to refer you to some of these wonderful people who have organized and implemented Project Graduation in the past, such as Edleen Winslow, Sally Hannon, and Fran Tyler. We owe much to them and their experience is a real source to us.

LET THEIR CHILDREN ENJOY THEIR BALLOONS

To the Editor:

In response to no balloons (Letter to the Editor, July 31)—doing away with balloons because of their detrimental environmental impact is a terrible waste of one's energy.

This problem is like viewing an insect through a microscope that "could" kill a tree if it got in it, while ignoring the fire that is engulfing the entire forest.

Take a look at acid rain, toxic waste, chemical seepage into our water table and oil spills on our oceans. Attack these problems, but please weigh the definite happiness of a small child gets with his or her balloon against the "possibility" of a not probable tragedy that may occur if the balloon gets away and falls back to earth in the forest. Have a heart and let the children play.

THANKS, EVERYBODY

To the Editor:

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all who made the Greenwood 175th Birthday Celebration such a huge success.

Special thanks go to the 175th Birthday Committee for the many hours spent in organizing events, and raising enough money to cover all of the celebration expenses, as well as contributing over $3,000 toward the Town Office Vinyl Siding Fund.

Also, special thanks to the following: Gilbert Mfg. Corp. for use of their land, D.J. Construction for use of their parking area, Frame-A-Rt Shop for art work displays, Lakeside Restaurant for donating donuts for Sunday Coffee.M & A Greenhouses for donation of plants, Inman Printing for Celebration Program, Warren & Grace Smith for use of their driveway, Oxford County Sheriff's Dept. for excellent traffic control, Master of Ceremonies, Leonard Hoy, all parade participants, Parade Marshall, Raymond Seames, Parade Judges: Pam House, Woodstock; Kathy Newell, Bethel; John White, Paris. Artists, crafters, vendors, exhibitors, and entertainers. American Legion and Auxiliary for use of parking lot. Greenwood Historical Society. Bethel Historical Society. Locke Mills Union Church. Individuals who donated to Vinyl Siding Fund. United States Committee, Greenwood Fire Department, Greenwood Highway Department, former Greenwood School Teachers. Town of Woodstock, Brochure Advertisers, "Old Time" Ball Players. All other individuals who gave so generously of their time.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

This week's column addresses three very different but important topics: the sewer and storm drain line replacement for the Lover's Lane project, and certain changes in the General Assistance Law.

The Downtown Revitalization Program is moving along at a fast clip. I have been informed by the area office of Farmer's Home Administration that Bethel is in a good position to win and infiltration. Removal Program. The money would be awarded after Oct. 1 and construction may begin in the spring of 1992.

The selectmen will be considering a preapplication for this funding at their Aug. 19 meeting. Although I do not yet have the preliminary draft, it appears that phase two, consisting of lower Main Street and parts of Railroad and Cross streets, will cost approximately $360,000.

I am told by FmHA that we could be expected to win a grant of $250,000 and a low-interest loan of $110,000. The acceptance of the funds, and the authorization for the loan, would of course require a vote of the town meeting.

Contrary to the original plan as laid out by the Maine Department of Transportation, they now expect to advertise for the improvements to Lover's Lane in Oct. 1991. This means the work on that road will probably not be started until next spring. What impact this delay will have in the resurfacing of Railroad Street is not yet clear.

The legislation governing Municipal General Assistance Programs has been changed. As of July 1 applicants for assistance must show actual proof of how their available income was spent. Any household money spent on non-essential items, such as telephone bills, cars, or cable TV must still be considered available, even in "emergency situations."

In other words, the town is no longer required to pay for utilities, even in the face of shut-off notices, or rent in the instance of eviction, if the applicant has spent any money on items not considered essential in the Town's Assistance Guidelines.

Essential items in Bethel are restricted to food, shelter (including heat and electricity), and travel and childcare only if the applicant is employed outside of the home.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

A wide variety of activities is planned once again for the 12th annual Sudbury Canada Days held each year during the second weekend in August. During this year's event (Aug. 10) a contra dance will be held featuring Ken Wilson as caller and the Nubbins Band. This event is being coordinated by Rocky Graham.

Chairs of various events include, Celina Couture, children's parade (theme, "Heroes and Heroines"); flower show, Barbara H. Brown and Gertrude Hutchins; historical videos, Marvin Ouwinga; old-time children games, Lucy and Jack Nordahl; craft demonstrators and exhibitors, Lorrie Hoeh assisted by Grace McKivergan; art show, Helen Morton; farming-logging exhibit, Rodney Howe, Allan Fraser, Fred McMillin; badminton tournament, Tineke Ouwinga; horseshoe tournament, George Gould; croquet tournament, Jim Anderson; ice cream eating contest, Lucy and Jack Nordahl; log driver's bean supper, Persis Post; old-time variety show, Harry Davis.

Music during the Saturday events will be provided by Ross Swain playing familiar melodies from the past. Prizes provided by an anonymous donor will be awarded for the children's parade, children's games, badminton, horseshoe and croquet tournaments.

Sudbury Canada Days honors Bethel's rich heritage, dating from the 18th century. Sudbury Canada was the town's name prior to incorporation in 1796. It was so designated since the original grantees from Sudbury, Mass. had fought unsuccessfully to conquer Canada (Quebec) in 1690. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which owned Maine until 1820, rewarded these men for their service with land in Maine, naming it in honor of their Massachusetts town and the campaign in which they had fought. LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: The Town of Greenwood observed its 165th anniversary of incorporation with a wide variety of activities. Alan Chapman won the New England Woodsman Championship at Keene. The Reverends Brendon and Jean Bass and two daughters, Annaliese and Caitlin arrived in Bethel at the Congregational Parsonage on Broad Street from Lake City, Mich. Marriage: Gary Inman and Rebecca Stowell.

Deaths: Norman Rowe Jr., Carroll Farnum, Seymour L. Butters, Gladys Bennett.

20 years ago: The home of Alan Chapman and family on the Northwest Bethel Road was destroyed by fire. Drizzle played Mollycoddett Day, but events continued as usual. Earle G. Shettleworth Jr. of Portland was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held in Garland Chapel. Route 26 in South Bethel was being resurfaced.

Birth: Justin Rufus Rice. Marriages: Bradford Henry and Nancy Lynn Farr; Charles L. Johnson III and Alice Auchmoody. Deaths: Ronald Roberts, Eleanor Paine.

30 years ago: The Red Cross Swimming Program awarded 119 certificates to participants. New trails and a second T-bar were added to Sunday River Skiway. Robert W. Hastings was elected selectman/assessor for Bethel, succeeding the late Harold Bennett. Jeffrey Hutchins was enrolled as a midshipman at the Maine Maritime Academy, Castine. Receipts of $1,147.07 were realized from Mollycoddett Day.

Marriage: Nelson Durgin and Carla Ann Grover.

Deaths: Roy Carter, Esther Myerson.

40 years ago: Fannie Blake of Bethel was a winner of the Green Pastures Contest. Waterpipe was being laid to connect the new school (Crescent Park) to the Bethel water system.

Birth: Mildred Arch Cummings. Marriages: Archibald Young Jr. and Jane Clementine Young; Irving Cummings and Ruth Breaux; Clifton F. Hill and Christine F. Knights.

Death: Susan Wright.

50 years ago: Gould Academy graduates 1888 and 1889 held a reunion at Harry Jordan's cottage. Robert Bateman joined the history faculty at Gould Academy. Three people were hurt in a collision at the corner of Church and Railroad streets in Bethel. Births: Ruth Stevens, Dana Bean. Death: Aquilla M. Chase.

KIMBALL REUNION

Maine Kimball descendants of Richard Kimball of Ipswich, Mass. will gather for their annual reunion at Dr. Moses Mason House, Sunday, Aug. 18. Registration begins at 10 a.m. Business meeting and program at 1:30 p.m.

Refreshments available as usual. Those bringing picnic lunches may enjoy the lawn (inside if rain).

Each person is asked to bring a 3x5 card bearing name, address and what is known of those of descent from ancestor in common Richard Kimball. Also bring another card with a brief anecdote or interesting item on a Kimball relative. Pictures are welcome, too.

All are asked to bring a good used or inexpensive new article for the auction.

Sales tax cashier thinks the customer plans to eat all the larger serving himself.

The increase in sales tax has also caused minor inconveniences and the usual snafus for merchants. For example, Joe Croteau of Carmela's in Bethel said he never got the original notice from the state that the sales tax was going up.

The changes can also be costly. Dan Reavis, owner of the Bryant Pond Village store, said he paid $35 for instructions on how to reprogram his cash register.

Most business owners and their employees said customers have complained a little about the increased tax, but seemed to accept it as inevitable.

Bethel Spa Motel employee Dot Bean summed up the prevailing local attitude: "What's the sense in crabbing," she said, "just shut-up and pay the damn tax."

Greenwood selectmen accept resignations

Greenwood school director Ivan Roberts and Recreation Committee member Carolyn Johnson have resigned.

SAD #44 Director Roberts told the Greenwood selectmen the reason for his resignation was "consonant of interest."

Roberts has been employed by SAD #44 as a coach and substitute teacher. A new state law passed this year mandates that board members can no longer coach. The district's policy committee is also considering a recommendation that board members no longer serve as substitute teachers. "It took me a long time to consider whether or not to quit because of my coaching," Roberts said, "but with the policy committee recommending no substitute teaching by board members—that made the decision for me."

Roberts said he could contribute more to the district as a substitute teacher and coach, rather than as a board member.

At their regular Tuesday meeting, the selectmen also accepted the resignation of Recreation Committee member Carolyn Johnson. The board plans to post the positions as soon as possible.

Selectmen also announced that the developers planning a Christian youth camp on Lake Twitchell will meet with the planning board on Monday, Aug. 12. A public hearing to discuss the project has been tentatively set for Aug. 28.

G'wood anniversary parade winners

The top three winners in Greenwood's 175th anniversary Celebration parade float contest were:

- District: Howe Hill, Young Hill, Shadagee
- Commercial: Gilbert Manufacturing, Mt. Abram
- Organization: Finnish American Society, American Legion, Lake Shore Association
- Overall Winner of Judges Trophy: Greenwood City

three-part effort by the federal government and the two states bordering the lake. Maine, through the Land for Maine's Future Board, has proposed purchasing or acquiring easement rights to 3,000-plus acres along the western shore of the lake and along the Rapid River. The State of New Hampshire is seeking $2.8 million to protect an additional 4,000 acres of developable lakeshore on the New Hampshire shoreline.

"Lake Umbagog is the last undeveloped large lake in New Hampshire," Rudman said. "Much of the Umbagog shoreline is currently for sale and it may not be possible to save it all. But we can, at least, establish an area which will begin to protect and preserve the extraordinary unique wildlife and natural characteristics of the area."

The board plans to post the positions as soon as possible.

Selectmen also announced that the developers planning a Christian youth camp on Lake Twitchell will meet with the planning board on Monday, Aug. 12. A public hearing to discuss the project has been tentatively set for Aug. 28.

Lightning kills N.H. youth on Umbagog camping trip

A 16-year-old boy was killed by lightning Thursday during a family outing on Lake Umbagog.

Carl Lemay of Belmont, N.H., a Belmont High School senior, was pronounced dead on arrival Thursday at the Androscoggin Valley Hospital in Berlin, N.H., according to a hospital spokesman.

Lemay and other family members were on the lake in an open aluminum boat, according to Paul Fournier, spokesman for the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

The youth was in the bow of the boat when a thunderstorm struck, he said.

The lightning knocked the boy into the water, Fournier said. The youth was submerged for at least 15 minutes before a diver from a nearby camp was able to find him.

Lemay was taken by boat over the lake and then up the Magalloway River. Near the Brown Owl Camp in Errol, he was taken off the boat and transferred to a pickup truck. From there he was taken by the truck to meet an ambulance on its way from Milan, N.H.

Cardiopulmonary resuscitation was begun immediately on the youth and continued throughout the rescue attempt, Fournier said.

Coos County Medical Examiner Dr. Roger Wood of AVH attributed the boy's death to the lightning strike, Fournier said.

First Tourmaline Music Festival set for next weekend at Mt. Valley H.S.

The first annual Tourmaline Music Festival will be held on Saturday, August 17 at Muskie Auditorium at Mountain Valley High School.

Sponsors of the festival are Ted and Connie St. Pierre, owners of The Outlook recording studio, Bethel, and the independent recording label of Tourmaline Music. The St. Pierres will be assisted by Richard and Linda Blackman.

The purpose of the annual festival is to benefit a local individual or family in a health crisis situation. Artists, musicians, and other types of entertainers or performers will receive first consideration.

This year's benefit is for Thea Dunn of the "Sweet Clover" trio. Dunn, who performed with the trio at the New Penacook July 4th celebration, is being treated for cancer at the Dan Faber Clinic, a special unit of Beth Israel Hospital in Boston.

On August 17, beginning at 6 p.m., Muskie Auditorium and the adjoining cafeteria will resound with a variety of music, dance with an array of hot and cold food, and clamor with the sale of raffled works of area craftspeople.

Audience members will be able to leave their seats to browse among the foodstuffs and crafts throughout the evening's performance, returning as they wish.

Tickets are on sale at the following locations: Mountain Valley High School, Mountain Valley Middle School, the Lincoln Avenue Shop 'N Save, Four Corners convenience store and by telephone from Elaine Michaud (364-7715 or 364-4336). Tickets are also available at the door. Senior citizen and student tickets are $2; all others are $5.

Anyone interested in assisting with the food sale and/or donating foodstuffs should contact Brenda White of Bethel (824-2288).

Rain dampens their bodies, but not biathloners spirits

Sunday's downpour soaked the course but could not dampen the spirits of the 16 eager competitors in the Kingsbury Summer Biathlon sponsored by Gould Academy Biathlon Club.

Summer biathlon is the warm-weather version of Olympic biathlon, the winter sport that combines cross-country skiing and rifle shooting. But in summer biathlon, skiing is replaced by running.

The five-kilometer race includes two shooting phases. A total of 10 shots are taken, five from a prone position and five standing. A penalty of 30 seconds is added to a racer's running time for each shot missed.

Sunday's chief of range, Jim Palmer, emphasized that the first goal of any biathlon event is safety. To ensure this each competitor participated in a pre-race safety clinic.

The rain caused concern among some racers that Gould's running trails would be extremely slippery. Yet according to first-time biathlete James Feeney of Bethel, "The footing wasn't bad. I loved it."

Feeney was pleased with his third-place finish in the men's division and said that he will "definitely race again."

Runners of all ages and abilities gave the race their best shot. Richard Scribner of Gorham had never handled a rifle before Sunday. "Safety was my big concern today," he commented. "There was good safety instruction."

Mark Clinch, also of Gorham, was simply out for a good experience. "I wasn't worried about the time," he said. "I just wanted to finish. It's challenging doing those hills." Clinch hit all five of his prone targets, but unfortunately missed all of his standing shots. "My glasses kept fogging up," he said.

Over 50 participants were expected to the race according to chief of competition, Kirk Siegel, but the weather appeared to keep most people away. Nonetheless, said range official Peter Elias everyone who did participate "had a good time."

Course official Denise Gauthier remarked that poor weather adds a special quality to a race. "There is something about rain at a race that bonds people together."

Racer Gretchen Elias of Auburn described the event as simply "wet, muddy, and cold." Elias, an Edward Little High School senior, sported a fourth-place finish in the women's division with a time of 35:11.

Scott Jerome of Bethel placed first in the men's division and first overall with a time of 23:16. Second place was captured by Scott Beaud of North Vassalboro with a time of 26:59.

Nancy Lund of Falmouth led the women with a time of 30:15. Paula Palka of Thomaston was a close second with a time of 31:52. And Susan Crandall of Bethel took third with a time of 34:48.

Crandall will be a senior at Gould Academy in the fall. She skis for the Gould Biathlon Team and uses summer biathlon as a training aid. "I race to get shooting practice," she said.

Another summer biathlon will take place in Bethel on Oct. 6. For more information contact Kirk Siegel at 824-2196.

Andover selectmen argue over where the buck stops

By BARBARA ADAMS

Fred Emerson, chairman of the Andover Board of Selectmen, strongly disagreed with the other town selectmen and the town treasurer last week about the authority of selectmen to oversee how budgets of other town officials are spent.

Selectman Wayne Delano, who has recently spent some time reviewing vouchers submitted by town departments, told the board, "One person shouldn't spend their budget as they see fit."

Emerson, however, vehemently disagreed.

"It's not up to us," he said, "to oversee any budget. I have been through this matter before. We don't have the authority. I'm not taking responsibility for the way any elected official spends his money. We don't have to explain how any elected official goes over-budget. That's between the official and the town. They shouldn't have to get approval from us for a nickel."

Selectman Brian Mills asked, "Why do we have to approve the vouchers then?" and Emerson replied, "It's the mechanics of the system."

But town treasurer Alex LeGault told Emerson, "You are wrong, Fred."

Delano said he felt, that as selectmen, the board had the responsibility to the town in regard to how the money was spent.

"If we don't have the authority," he said, "then I'd like to see an article on the next Town Meeting warrant giving us the authority, so we can oversee their spending."

"No," Emerson said. "If you waste money, and you are a town official and the people learn about it, you are not going to get re-elected. It is not our responsibility to oversee the spending of other elected town officials."

In other business, investment officer Franklin Lawrence and administrative officer Cindy Brown of the Key Bank met with the board in regard to fees the bank charges for handling the town's Comsat Trust.

The bank representatives proposed lowering the fees by approximately $3,500 a year, based on the fund's present market value of $672,200.12.

They agreed with the board that the current fees "were exorbitant."

Selectman Mills told the Key Bank representatives, "I feel we shouldn't have to knock on your door to find this out."

In the past, the town has paid $8,300 in annual fees, and the new fee schedule, if approved by the board, will have a yearly fee of $4,000.

"The bottom line," Brown said, "is a reduction in the fees of approximately $3,500, and the elimination of a five percent charge against income."

Selectman Delano also commented that "since both the board and the bank thought the fees were exorbitant," that the town was, in his opinion, due a rebate on the excess of previous charges.

Alliance calls for better controls over current military overflights

In the wake of a recent public meeting on lowering the training floor for military flights over much of western Maine, the Western Mountains Alliance has called increased public scrutiny of the new proposal and for better management of military jet training operations already underway here.

At the hearing—held two weeks ago in Farmington—many residents reported that low-altitude jet flights were already a common occurrence in the area, and that many of the overflights appeared outside of the areas set aside for such flights.

Residents also reported that complaints about such flights brought little or no meaningful response from military authorities.

Representatives of the National Guard, on hand to discuss the new proposal for more low-altitude flights, found themselves under attack because of the military's poor track record.

"There really are two separate questions here," said Paul Lowe, executive director of the alliance. "One is, should the number and scope of low-altitude flights be increased? The other is more basic: can the military control existing operations? That has to happen before we consider expanding anything."

The new proposal, which caught many residents by surprise, would allow over 4,000 jet flights a year as low as 500 feet, over some 250 square miles of western Maine. That proposal will go through a formal Environmental Impact Statement process, of which last week's meeting was the first step.

Upton tax rate up one mil

Tax bills in Upton this year will reflect a one-mil increase—from $7 per one thousand dollars of assessed valuation to $8.

An increase in town office expenses, snow removal, landfill expenses and sand purchases are responsible for the tax hike, according to Selectman Richard Lecomte.

Voters approved the expenditures at the annual town meeting. Lecomte predicted at that time that taxes would go up one mil to meet the increase in spending.

The alliance has urged that anyone interested in receiving more information on this process, or offering comments contact its office in Farmington.

"We'll be sure you're put on the official mailing list and that comments are forwarded to our senators," Lowe said. "It's very important for everyone to be heard, regardless of your opinion."

State Rep. Ida Luther, D-Mexico, is also circulating copies of the environmental impact statement response form, but she is urging that the forms be returned to the alliance, not to the National Guard address in Augusta that is given at the bottom of the form.

Luther described the Augusta address as little more than "a dead letter office." She said that forms returned to the alliance would be photocopied and copies sent to Maine's congressional delegation in Washington.

The originals would then be sent to the appropriate National Guard official in Maryland, Luther said.

At the meeting on July 24, it was disclosed that several military training routes already exist over western Maine, where planes may fly down to the tree-top level.

Tennessee folksingers offer concert Tuesday

Guy and Candie Carawan, folksingers from the Highlander Research and Education Center in New Market, Tenn., will be visiting Bethel following their concert in Toronto, Canada and Burlington, Vt.

They will present a free public concert on the Gehring House lawn on Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 12:15 p.m., sponsored by the NTL/Community Task Force.

The Highlander Center was founded in 1932 by Myles Horton and Don West as an adult education center committed to achieving economic, political, and racial justice during a critical era in southern and Appalachian history.

During its 30-year history, it served as vital resource and catalyst for social change. It originally served as a folk school for labor and farmers' union members and as a meeting place for black and white civil rights activists.

This was news to many of the 150 people in the audience, some of whom questioned whether these corridors should be changed and how overflight violations were handled.

Research by the alliance has turned up a system "that's supposed to work," according to Lowe. "The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is in charge of all airspace," he said. "Anyone with questions or complaints should call the FAA in Bangor, at their toll-free number (800) 982-7433. 'Ignore the answering machine. You may have to wait on hold, but someone answers the phone and will help you.' Lowe said. "I tried it, and it works."

Complaints are forwarded by the FAA to military officers, whose job is to pursue them and work to get any violating pilots out of the air.

Everyone who files a complaint should receive a response from the military.

"If you get a run-around or no response, contact us," said Lowe.

Several former military officers, in the audience at the Farmington meeting, echoed the need for credible control of military flights—regardless of the eventual fate of the new proposal.

The alliance is assembling a mailing list which will receive updates, further details on existing routes for low-altitude flights and reporting violations, and how to participate in the Environmental Impact Statement process.

The alliance's address is: P.O. Box 29, Farmington, ME, 04938.

A week in the life of HILLARY HARRISON

Hello! How is everybody? I'm great! I'm also very excited. Why? Because my vacation is coming up soon.

Also I have just moved into a new house, the Murphy's—we are renting it from them, I love it. Although we have a lot of work to do before it can be called home but I think I'm gonna like it a lot.

School is also about to start. I'm excited because the summer has begun to get kind of boring.

Kane Olson, left, Karl Olson, Caroline Raymond, Lauren Hansen and Riley Hansen are participating in the Bethel Library's Summer Reading Program. Students entering first grade and above will be rewarded for their reading with a trip to the Maine Aquarium on Aug. 22. Pre-school children and those entering kindergarten, who read or have read to them 20 books, will be invited to a program of song and motion Aug. 21 at the library. Kathy Slack will provide the entertainment.

David Preble, Prim's Pharmacy
Antibiotics are Needed for Strep Throat

Sometimes a sore throat represents more than minor irritation resulting from a cough or cold. Occasionally a sore throat is the result of an infection caused by beta hemolytic streptococci bacteria. When this type of infection occurs, the condition is commonly referred to as "strep throat." If a strep throat infection is left untreated it can lead to rheumatic fever and heart damage in children. For this reason it is important that children who complain of sore throat for more than 4 to 5 days be seen by a physician.

Typically a strep throat causes painful swallowing, tonsil swelling and tenderness, and fever. According to an article in the journal Patient Care, sore throat along with coughing, itchy eyes, and lymph node swelling in the neck frequently are signs of a viral infection that may be mistaken for strep throat. The best way to tell the difference is to have a culture of the throat area made by a physician. The procedure provides for a more accurate diagnosis which aids in selection of the best treatment.

According to many physicians, the best treatment for strep throat is either a single intramuscular injection of penicillin or oral penicillin tablets for 10 days. If there is the possibility of allergic reaction to penicillin, erythromycin appears to be the antibiotic most often recommended.

Westies are in the battle again for PTL crown

The West Paris Westies are once again fighting for the Pine Tree League championship. The Westies won back-to-back championships in 1983 and 1984, and played again for the title in 1986 and 1989, losing to Lewiston in best-of-five series that both went the full distance. Last season the Westies were knocked out in a preliminary round and Lewiston again took the title. This season it was Lewiston's turn to bow out early, leaving the Westies (16-4) and Oxford Hills (14-4) to battle it out for the title. The championship series itself has limped off to a slow start. The first game, scheduled for Sunday at Perham Field in West Paris, was rained out and rescheduled for Monday, then called because of darkness going into the bottom of the sixth inning.

The Westies, powered by a three-run Rick Whitney homer, were clinging to a slim 5-4 lead when the game was called.

The second game in the championship series was scheduled for last night in Oxford Hills.

The first game will be completed at Perham Field on Thursday at 4:30, prior to the regularly scheduled third game.

News from Adult Education

Adults interested in learning more about the University of Maine courses offered through the Interactive Television system at Telstar High School are invited to an orientation session scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 7, from 7-8:30 p.m. at Telstar High School.

David Ackley, director of the Rumford/Mexico Center of the University of Maine at Augusta will discuss course selection, financial aid, student support services, admission requirements, and answer questions about all aspects of post-secondary education at the Rumford/Mexico Center and over ITV. This is a free session.

Individual appointments are available with staff from the University on Aug. 7 from 2:45-3:00 and Aug. 21 from 3:30-7. Anyone wishing to reserve an appointment may call the Adult Education office at Telstar, 824-2780. Appointments at the Rumford/Mexico Center may be scheduled by calling 1-800-696-1103.

Placement testing will be available at Telstar on Tuesday, Aug. 13, from 1-5. There is no charge for the testing, which is required for students who are enrolling in degree programs. Questions about placement tests should be addressed to staff at the Rumford/Mexico Center, 1-800-696-1103. Appointments for testing may be made with the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

Fall ITV classes begin on Tuesday, Sept. 3. Course guides are available at the Adult Education office at Telstar.

The students join a total of 2,052 students who earned dean's list honors.

DEP meeting

dumped in Albany.

Gordon, however, has argued that a license for the Greenwood site would allow him to begin moving the tires in Albany, which would be processed through the Greenwood site and then sold to various end users.

He contends the site is a storage area, not a disposal site or "tire dump."

At last week's meeting, Marriotti, who is commissioner of the DEP, basically seconded Gordon's arguments.

Marriotti—who had met with Gordon and his wife, Susan, just before meeting with the Greenwood delegation—said that without a license Gordon was hampered in disposing of the tires, because some end users would not buy tires from unlicensed dealers.

With a license, Marriotti argued, Gordon would be able to begin moving the tires out more rapidly and be able to bring the site into compliance.

Marriotti claimed the consent agreement—which calls for Gordon to conform to a specific timetable in cleaning up the various sites—finally gives the DEP sufficient legal leverage to bring the situation under control.

With the "package" of a license and

YOU DON'T SAY—Greenwood officials met last week in Augusta with Dean Marriotti, commissioner of the state department of Environmental Protection, to present their case against the licensing of Peter Gordon's tire storage site on the Rabbit Road. The meeting achieved little, however, as Marriotti indicated he would probably approve a license for the site this week. Here, Greenwood Planning Board Chairman Wayne Hakala describes conditions at the site to Marriotti, head on hand, and Paula Clark, director of the DEP's Division of Solid Waste Facilities Regulation. Greenwood selectmen Harry Swan, Ray Seames and Marie Bartlett sit to the right; state Rep. Al Barth, also at the meeting, is not shown.

consent agreement in place, Marriotti argued, the DEP would be able to "enforce any order we issue."

Marriotti also played down the environmental threat posed by the site. The draft license calls for three 10,000-square-foot tire cells. A fire in one of the cells Marriotti claimed would "be a major problem but not a disaster."

The Greenwood officials were unconvinced. First Selectman Ray Seames pointed out that after promising to enforce DEP regulations, Marriotti went on to say that in the event of continued violations, DEP would go into court against Gordon only "if we decide it's worth it to us."

In the past, the selectmen said later, such official equivocation has led to total paralysis and DEP's complete inability to control what took place in either Greenwood or Albany.

Given Gordon's track record—and the DEP's—they said, they saw little reason to think granting a license would alter the situation.

Selectman Marie Bartlett said the town will now go ahead with attempts to enforce its own ordinance, especially with the provision that calls for Gordon to establish an escrow account to protect the town against the costs of cleaning up or fighting a fire at the site.

Commissioner Marriotti said he knew nothing about the town's regulations or their enforceability. He would not comment on whether the agency would attempt to sue the town if attempted to close the site down.

"It sounds like your chapter in this book is about to begin," he said.

Two local students to enter Bates College

Two area students will enter Bates College in Lewiston this fall.

Nathan P. Miserocchi, son of John and Betty Miserocchi of Andover, will enter as a transfer student.

A graduate of Telstar High School, Miserocchi is transferring to Bates from the University of New Hampshire in Durham, N.H.

Adrienne E. Ferrell, daughter of William and Catherine Ferrell of Paradise Hill Road, Bethel, is entering Bates as a first-year student.

G'wood planners: RVs and trailers must comply with shoreland regs

The Greenwood Planning Board is urging anyone using recreational vehicles or small trailers for camps along the town's ponds to meet shoreland zoning requirements.

Planning Board Chairman Wayne Hakala said that there are currently two seasonal trailers in place that violate the town's shoreland zoning ordinances. The board notified the owners, who are working to correct the problem, he said.

Some of the ordinances that trailers and RVs used as temporary camps must meet include: a minimum lot size of 40,000 square feet; installation of a concrete or gravel pad; a 100-foot set-back from the water; and the code enforcement officer's approval of the sewage disposal system, Hakala said.

"It's not a large problem right now," he said. "It's just a matter of education. We'd like to see people come in and talk to the planning board if they have any questions."

Arts and Artisans Fair returns to Lovell

The Arts and Artisans Fair sponsored by the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library will return to Lovell for its sixteenth anniversary.

The fair will be held Saturday, Aug. 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the New Suncook School on Route 5.

For the last two years, the popular arts and crafts fair has been held in Fryeburg (due to the lack of an adequate facility). The renovated New Suncook location provides ample space both inside and out to house the more than 40 craftsmen from around New England who will be taking part.

Drawings for a raffle of articles made by exhibitors will be held during the afternoon. Tickets may be purchased at the library, from library club members and at the fair itself before the time of the drawings. Refreshments will also be on sale. A used-book sale will take place at the library in Lovell village.

Florence Hastings spent the week of July 21 to July 27 at the Bancroft's camp on Sebago lake. This was a women's week only. There were nine great-grandchildren, most all the grandchildren and her 3 daughters. All had a good time.

George Gamble of Hanover, N.H. spent a week at the Hastings Homestead.

Otis Bartlett of Berlin, N.H. and Barbara Rich Adams from Lancaster, N.H. visited at the Bartlett Homestead recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wilkes of Cumberland visited at the Bartlett Homestead on July 28.

Dori Hallman of Durham with her daughters, Heather and Whitney, visited Arlene Harrington on July 28.

Chet Harrington is holding his own. He may be released to a physical therapy nursing home next week.

Richard Kimball has retired from working with Boise Cascade. He is doing okay.

Meilyn Olson is doing all right. The treatments make him feel a little tired.

Millie Jackson drove Agnes Haines to Rumford Hospital for more tests to see why her hip is acting up. Monday she goes back for more consultation.

Alder River Grange had a float in the parade at Greenwood's 175th anniversary parade. Stan Howe drove his truck while Rodney and Gerry Howe and I rode in the back. I must say it is a very different thing to be in a parade than watching one. I enjoyed looking at the people who were watching. There were a lot of locals there.

with Mrs. Ruth Silver.

Wednesday afternoon Weston Flint and Winona Verrill of South Paris visited Mrs. Elmira Doyen. Later John Hindman and friend Lauren of Portland came and brought supper. His mother Connie Hindman joined them.

Norma was in Auburn and Portland Thursday with Kassi and Kaitly. No one can remember of Songo Pond ever being so low.

On Sunday, July 28, Norma and David Salway attended a Morgan Family Gathering at the cottage of Sandy and Randy Stiles on North Pond. Others in attendance were:

Florence and Olin Morgan; Ray and Mary Morgan, Desirée and Christian; Terry Petrillo, Matthew and Allie; Kim and Kevin Gould and Ashley, all of Bethel; Susan and Mike Malia; Debbie DeGrenier, of Gorham, N.H.; Jeff and Tatjana Morgan, Berlin, N.H.

Clarence Morgan and Marian Lord of Naples; Barry and Fifi Salway, Scott and friend Michelle of Laconia, N.H.; Robert Morgan and granddaughter Crystal of East Bethel; Jerry and Sue Nowlin and son Jerry, Jr. of Newry; Sandy and Randy Stiles and Mandy of Shelburne, N.H. and North Pond.

Karlene Bachelder went over the 300 mark on her bowling recently. Betsy Clark was close behind lacking a few points.

Linda Woods is spending some time at her summer home here in North Newry, enjoying camping, hiking and while water canoeing with friends. She recently celebrated her 40th birthday. Happy Birthday Linda, still looking good!

Sylvia Harrington was a recent guest of Bill and Sylvia Wight, enjoying some nice vegetables from their garden.

All you stargazers should have a good show of the Perseid Meteors zooming across the skies after midnight on the 12th and 13th of August.

With all the bank frauds, the stealing, the over the phone inducements, etc., it brings this little tidbit to mind; "When the rich steal from the rich, it is called Good Business." When the rich steal from the rich for the poor, it is called "Noblesse Oblige." When the middle class steals from the middle class, it is called "Corruption." When the rich and the middle class steal from the poor, it is called "Fiscal Responsibility." When the poor steal from the rich and the middle class, it is called a "Crime." When the poor steal from the poor, it is called "Tough Luck..."

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Ellsworth Hathaway has been confined to bed with severe lameness in his back. He was up today as he had a float in the parade and had to get it up there. It was on his sawmill equipment on a truck which he fixed up on purpose. I hope it didn't make him any worse.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cushman of Winthrop called on Olive Davis Sunday morning. They were headed to Bryant Pond where Olive Risko was holding a picnic, family gathering for the group at her cottage on the foot of the pond. They brought me some lovely raspberries.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews of Bridgton had dinner with their Aunt Olive Davis Sunday. Arthur painted the front of the porch while here. It seemed to have deteriorated there too fast.

Esther Davis took Olive for a ride Sunday afternoon after going to the dump. We went to Newry and down the road to Andover to North Woodstock then to South Woodstock. It was a nice ride to see where others lived and much longer ride than we anticipated. Many people attended the Greenwood parade Saturday. I was glad for one to see the beautiful fire trucks that many of the surrounding towns entered in the parade. It was very colorful. The antique cars were very interesting also.

There were many outdoor sales everywhere along the highway. Everything was going on Saturday it seems. Good luck to you all. The Trap Corner Store had their opening also, that was well attended. Esther and Olive Davis had dinner there. The seats were well filled and waits were necessary before being seated.

On August 10 at 6 p.m. the Historical Society will hold its annual picnic at Olive Risko's camp. Bring your own food and folding chairs if you come. Olive Risko called on Olive Davis July 25. She brought me blueberries she had picked near her home. They were delicious. Thanks Olive.

South Paris. They enjoyed lunch in the Manor screenhouse. Betty and Ray Hodson were overnight guests of Betty's mother Flora Whitten.

Tammy Small Peterson, Watertown, Penn., called on Anne Fox. She had been called to teach Pyank (Ukarnien Easter Eggs) classes in Ocean View Park in Maine by the Education Bureau. They were neighbors in Orono years ago.

Louise Powell, Hale, and Bernice Wing, Dixfield, visited Alma Hewey on Wednesday.

Gertrude Hutchins went with her family to her grandson's Christian's graduation in Bethel Wednesday night.

Alfred Marston, South Portland, daughter Tiffanie and son, Christopher were at Aunt Florence Hall's for Old Home Day weekend.

Tiffanie and Florence dressed in very "old time" dresses at church on Sunday.

William and Marie Nuppala called on Florence Hall while in Andover for Old Home Day. Lucy Baker and daughter have moved to Bangor. All of us will miss them.

Florence Hall called on Arvilla Feener recently.

Thought for the day: The most inflammable piece of wood is a chip on the shoulder.—Henry Boye.

Calvary Congregational Church Rev. Albert Buzzell used I Cor. 2:6-16 as a responsive reading. A revelation to us by the spirit of God. Morning Message: The Holy Spirit, and Scripture. In today's age, we are following "Humanism" not giving God first place. Our revelation is pure when it comes directly thru the teaching of scripture I Cor. 2:9, 10. Scriptural man discerns all things V.14. Communion was observed following the worship service I Cor. 1:18-21. Choir practice at 6 p.m. at Edna Whites. An August 28, weekly practice 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Baptism classes being held. Baptismal Service, August 11 at Covered Bridge immediately following service. Church picnic to follow at the home of Don and Barb Bailey.

Rally Day, September 8th. Missionary Conference in October.

HOOP HOPEFULS AT CAMP—A number of Greenwood and Woodstock area boys recently took part in a basketball camp at Fryeburg Academy. The five-day clinic was sponsored by academy athletic director and varsity basketball coach Gerry Durgin, with help from Paul True, senior captain of the University of Maine at Farmington's team. Jim Billings, left, and Jason Mullen. Rear row: coach True, left, Mark Tripp, Matthew Ryerson, Sandon Morgan, Mike Bryer, Cory Koch and director Durgin.

Stephen Kings "Four Past Midnight" are $1 each and available at the library or from any library trustee. The group is also holding a contest to guess the number of beans in a jar on display at the library. The closest guess wins two pounds of fudge.

The Old Home Days Committee announced the winner of their $20 cash drawing, on Saturday, Mrs. Betsy Fisher. The remaining nine cash winners' names were drawn on the 2nd, and will be listed in next weeks column.

Phillip and Karin (Dixon) Milligan welcomed a 7 lb, 15 oz, baby daughter, Lindsey Gail, into their family on July 16. Lindsey joins an older brother, Patrick, age 20 months.

Robert and Jen Dixon of Arnold, Md., visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dixon over the Old Home Days weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Swain and two daughters of St. Louis, Mo., arrived on July 21st for two weeks visit with relatives.

Rodney Swain and Matthew of Jericho, Vt., and Hannah of Manteca, Calif., arrived on July 24th. Rodney left for home on July 27th. Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Swain and two children arrived in East Andover for the rest of the week. On July 27th Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Swain, Rodney Swain, Ross Swain and Leigh were in Milan, N.H. to attend the 50th wedding anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Stiles. Get well wishes to Glenice Roberts.

Dot Hutchins and John Jodrey. Wishing you all a speedy recovery.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wells of Toledo, Ohio are spending the week at their home here. They own the home known as the Jim Barnett place. Red told of being at the Umbagog Camp grounds when boat loads of folks came over from the Island. The boat passengers reported that bears were coming around the tents and stealing coolers. Violette Bernier spent the weekend in Carlisle, Mass., where Ray has employment.

Margaret Mitchell spent a few days with her sister, Tilly Grundy in Sebago.

Waldo Butterfield has had his large camp built on Back Street by Beaver Ridge Construction of Raymond, N.H. The Forest Service supplied a rain gauge so I might measure and report been zero to trace, to the Greenville Station. I would suppose the personnel there would know little Upton as a dot on the map recently added as a reporting station, but on my second call I talked with a man identifying himself as Mr. Wight, son of long time friends Bill and Sylvia in Newry.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Goodrum celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary, August 1.

Debra Clark and children Deirdre and Jimmy of Southport, Conn., are spending a long weekend with the Bob Browns.

High Street

By VIVA WHITMAN

A beautiful sunny morning to start the week off but they are saying rain which we still need and perhaps will get. We hope so anyway. What we have gotten has helped the gardens a lot and hopefully the threat of forest fires. Fire danger is one thing I don't like to think of and we have been fortunate not to have fires around here. We hope that luck lasts but one never knows.

Well, woodchucks are coming around again. We hadn't seen any for quite a while and the other night I went up around the garden for a walk and out of the lumber pile came a little chuck. Looked like one of this years chucks. Not a very large one and guess he was curious to see who or what was around. When I headed in his direction he scampered out of sight into the lumber pile. Even small ones grow to be large and eat one's garden stuff so Russell has set a trap to see if he can catch him. Also, Lawrence has seen one at his place just above us and that one is a large one so he is trying to do a little twenty-two practicing on him. He has squash plants set out and a few other things and Mr. Woodchuck is after them so he is after Mr. Chuck. We will have to wait to see who wins.

the game. Saturday morning, Russell and Peggy left bright and early for a day at Locke Mills for the parade where they represented our forefathers who settled first in Greenwood. Stayed to the festivities most of the day so had a good time and saw lots of folks. Wish I could have done the same but no dice for me. Just getting around has been enough for me to handle and so stayed home. In the evening they went dancing at Locke Mills for most of the dances but left a little early from tiredness.

Russell pulled and picked the rest of his peas on Sunday as well as getting greens from the garden for us to have on the table.

Saturday was an interesting day for Hope Lovejoy as she accompanied her friend Kim Pierceson and family, I guess, on a trip over the Kancamagus Highway and other spots of interest. The rest of the family went to Chadbourne's field day at Bear Mountain Village.

Sunday was the Robinson reunion at Songo Pond in Bethel and Helena Bartlett of Bethel joined the group for the day.

Of course everyone knows of the dance at West Paris Grange Hall this next Saturday, August 3 and again on the next Saturday, the 10th, so write it down and go for a good time as usual.

Don't forget there will be a Variety Show on August 16 at Bryant Pond at Franklin Grange Hall. Take care one and all and have a good week ahead.

Ann Proctor and Ivan, Jr., and Elizabeth Merrill of Waterford went to Stratton on Thursday for the weekend. Owen and Donna Melville and Dennis of Woodland were at her parents Ivan and Ann Proctor's on Sunday after the "Old Timer's" softball game in Greenwood. Owen was one of the "Old Timers".

Ivan Proctor was the guest of honor at a birthday party cook-out last week at the home of daughter Donita Murch in South Paris. Those present were Ray and Dorene Merrill, Ben, Jason and Elizabeth; Beryl Bonney; Sid and Cynthia Scott; Ann Proctor, Ivan, Jr., Donita Murch, Michelle, Shelley, Jim and Phil. The birthday cake made by daughter Doreen was enjoyed.

Vance and Connie Bacon and Stan and Maxine Cram were camping last weekend at Winslow State Park in Freeport.

The E.B. Forbes Goodwill Group will meet on Tuesday, August 13 at 10:30 a.m. at Lettie Brooks' farm for a dinner meeting. Phyllis Young will assist Lettie as hostess.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp outings, area athletes expenses, disabled individuals needs, etc. If you're clearing the garage, attic, or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269, for pickup. Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

Andover Olde Home Days 1991

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Chamber would like to apologize to P.H. Chadbourne & Sons Co. for omitting them from the golf tournament card of thanks. They were a hole sponsor and we really appreciate their support. Sorry, Bob and Co.

A group of Chamber volunteers went to Andover Old Home Days to sell lobster rolls on their Common. Many thanks to Harry Faulkner, Bill and Laurie Barter, Barbara and Dana Douglass, Kim from Bethel Savings Bank, Dillon Gillies and Pat Wymann and also to the Bethel Inn, the Sudbury Inn, and the Red Top Truck Stop for their cooperation.

The board of directors will be meeting Thursday, Aug. 8, for the regular monthly meeting. Secretary Bill Riley will preside over the meeting in the absence of president George Larson, who is on vacation. All interested members are welcome to attend. It's held at 7:30 a.m. in the meeting room of the Casco Bank.

MUNDT-ALLEN POST PICNIC

The annual Mundt-Allen Post and Auxiliary picnic will be held at Sonny and Arlene Bean's home in West Bethel on Sunday, Aug. 18 at 12 noon. Members need to bring a beverage. Please call 824-2495 or 824-2472 by Wednesday, Aug. 14 and leave a message if you plan to attend. Rain date is Aug. 25.

HOPE GREENWOOD T-SHIRTS ARE NOW BEING ORDERED

The town of Greenwood has sold all its 175th anniversary T-shirts, but plans to take orders for more.

YMCA JOB OPENINGS

The Oxford Hills YMCA, based in Norway, is looking for people with experience, dependability, and energy to join their enthusiastic team.

Qualified, caring instructors are needed to work with children in the YMCA's fun-filled afterschool programs, beginning Sept. 16.

Part-time employment opportunities include: soccer instructors in Waterford and West Paris, and gymnastics instructors in West Paris, Fox and Waterford.

Emphasis will be placed on fun, learning, new skills, non-competitiveness and safety. Experience with children is a must and applicants must be at least 21.

WARMING UP—Telstar High School sophomore Elise Bennett, daughter of Judy and Douglas Bennett of Bryant Pond, warms up her bassoon at the University of Maine's summer music academy. The program was an intensive nine days of courses on music performance, history and styles. A typical practice for Elise consisted of six hours of group rehearsal, two hours of private covered topics including scat singing, stage fright, All-State Band auditions, a university instructor. The program ended with a concert finale by the ensemble under the direction of the university's bassoon instructor, Aridh Freeman. She will continue instruction with Freeman and plans to audition for the All-State Band and the Portland Youth Symphony Orchestra.

In an effort to expand their quality programs, especially into outlying communities, the YMCA is also inviting individuals who have people skills and expertise in a certain area to submit proposals for new classes they want to teach. Hours are flexible.

Volunteers are also needed for gymnastics, Teen Open Gym, adult swimming and after-school sports. Training will be provided. Call 743-7184 for an application or submit proposals/resumes to Oxford Hills YMCA P.O. Box 208 Norway, Maine 04268.

Quilt show set at Meeting House

The Middle Intervale Meeting House Society will hold its fifth annual Quilt Show on Saturday, Aug. 24 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The show house will be prepared for the show the afternoon of Friday,

Aug. 23. Quilts for the display are to be dropped off at that time. Setting up for the show will also begin Friday afternoon. Security will be provided for Friday night.

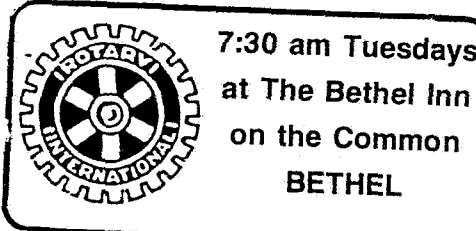

The show's planning committee has met twice at the Bethel Library. A final planning meeting has been scheduled for Aug. 14 at 7 p.m. at the library.

Many new and old quilts and interesting projects will be exhibited at the show, including some "Violetta Challenge" quilted wall hangings made by members of the Cross Country Quilters Club.

Donations will be accepted at the door to view the handwork, which have been hand or machine pieced, quilted, appliqued or embroidered. The Cross Country Quilters has donated a quilt to benefit the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society. The quilt fundraiser will be awarded.

MORE THAN A TRADING POST—The Enchanted Cottage in West Paris is set up like a country home—except everything from the furniture to the curtains is on sale. Customers can browse through the sunporch, bathroom, nursery, kitchen, bedroom and living room and purchase anything they like. The cottage offers a wide variety of collectibles, furniture, wall hangings, tableware, linens and more. Most items are pre-owned and are "yard sale" priced. Owners Maurice, left, Cecile and Mathew Lescault have done extensive remodeling to the building. The trading post's inventory varies weekly, sometimes daily, offering customers a wide assortment of household items to choose from.

Michael Menes, Michael Miclon to appear at Celebration Barn

On Saturday, Aug. 17 Celebration Barn Theater will present an evening with Michael Menes, the "Thinking Man's Juggler." He will be joined by local performer Michael Miclon. The performance starts at 8 p.m. Celebration Barn is located on Stock Farm Road, just off Route 117 North in South Paris, Maine.

Michael Menes is the "Thinking Man's Juggler." Through creative manipulation of objects and onlookers, he has taken juggling to new heights. Widely known for his mesmerizing dance-juggling routines, Michael combines split-second timing with elegant, virtuosic skill; breakdancing on beach balls, winding up Chinese yo-yos, kaleidoscopically spinning rings and making eighteen characters out of a single T-shirt! A juggler of ideas and tubular bells, Michael Menes is a unique performer in the tradition of New Vaudeville.

Mixing amazing juggling skill with contortionism, spontaneous visual humor, and crafty illusion, his act is a one-of-a-kind spectacle for audiences of all ages and backgrounds. Michael will be joined by local performer Michael Miclon. His inventive performance is a combination of juggling, unicycling, buffoonery, storytelling and puppetry. His family style show includes audience participation laced with lots of laughter.

Tickets for Michael Menes and Michael Miclon on Saturday, August 17 are $5 for adults, and $2.50 for children 12 and under.

Turkey hunters bagged record number of birds

Maine turkey hunters established two new records in the sixth annual spring hunting season, according to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Wildlife Biologist Phillip Bozenhard said hunters bagged 21 birds during the 18-day season which ended May 28. The previous high was 19, in 1989.

The heaviest bird weighed 21 pounds, also a new record. It was shot on opening day in Dayton by Donald Edgerly of Limerick and bettered the old record by one pound.

Bozenhard said the harvest included nine adult "toms" and 12 "jakes" (one-year-old males).

Once again there were no hunting incidents or injuries reported, nor any summonses for law violations.

NEWS FROM CHANNEL IV

United Video Cablevision viewers in the Bethel area have been treated to a sampling of locally-originated programming on Channel IV since late May.

The programs have ranged from Telstar High School softball games to a number of graduations, as well as Historical Society meetings and a Department of Labor series on unemployment. The Greenwood 175th committee prepared a promotional spot for their event which was aired at random during the week prior to the celebration. Footage of Mollycoddle day will be featured on Wednesday, July 31 at 7 p.m.

According to Cathy Newell, a member of the Channel IV board serving as temporary manager, more than twenty local non-profit organizations have submitted notices to be included on the bulletin board. Several of these organizations have taken the time to contact Channel IV to let them know that the notices have produced results for them. Notices are limited to events occurring within the Channel IV towns of Bethel, Greenwood, Newry, Woodstock and West Paris.

JULIA PARKER HONORED AT MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
Julia G. Parker, daughter of Ms. Judith D. Parker of Cape Elizabeth, Maine and Mr. Gerry H. Parker of West Bethel, has been named a College Scholar, the highest recognition for academic achievement for the spring term at Middlebury College. Students who receive this coveted designation at Middlebury must have a grade point average of 3.5 or better and have no grade lower than a "B-" for the semester.

SENIOR CITIZEN MENUS
Thursday, Aug. 8: Italian salad w/ham, cheese, tomato, green pepper, pasta, dinner roll, banana.
Tuesday, Aug. 13: Meatloaf w/gravy, whipped potatoes, sliced carrots, pineapple muffin, confetti cake.

ALL-YOUTH HORSE SHOW
All youth horseback riders from the area are invited to an all-youth horse show at the Oxford County Fairgrounds on Sunday, Aug. 11 beginning at 9 a.m. The show is being sponsored by Oxford Hills area merchants and the Lucky Horseshoe 4-H Club. Julia Dearborn of Biddeford will be the officiating judge of the day for a variety of classes that include: Showmanship, Equitation, Pleasure, Trail, Over-Fences, Games and Dressage. Classes are being broken down into 3 age groups: 10 and under, 11-14 and 15 to 19.
Champion and Reserve Champion awards will be given out at the end of the day in each of the three age divisions as well as an Outstanding Sportsmanship award.

NORTH POND SAILING ASSOC.
The North Pond Sailing Association held its second regatta on July 21. Bob Silva of Twitchell Pond won three races. Sylvia Martin of Indian Pond won two races and Bob Davis of Round Pond also won two races. The group had its largest turnout of the season a week later, during Greenwood's 175th anniversary celebration. Race winners were Walton Hathaway of North Pond, Martha Watson of Worthley Pond, Sylvia Martin, Chris Bayruther of Round Pond and Glen Young of Locke Mills.
So far this season, Sylvia Martin is the overall leader in the racing competition.

DIVORCE CLINIC SCHEDULED
Pine Tree Legal Assistance will hold a divorce clinic in Rumford on Wednesday, Aug. 7 at the University of Maine at Augusta's Rumford-Mexico Center from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The clinic will explore issues of divorce and will discuss the pros and cons of divorcing without a lawyer. All the paperwork required to start and finish a divorce will be completed in the class.

Those participating are asked to bring a lunch.
Anyone interested in the clinic must be eligible under Pine Tree Legal's financial guidelines. For more information, call Pine Tree Legal at 784-1558 or the Volunteer Lawyers Project at 1-800-442-4293 or 774-4348.

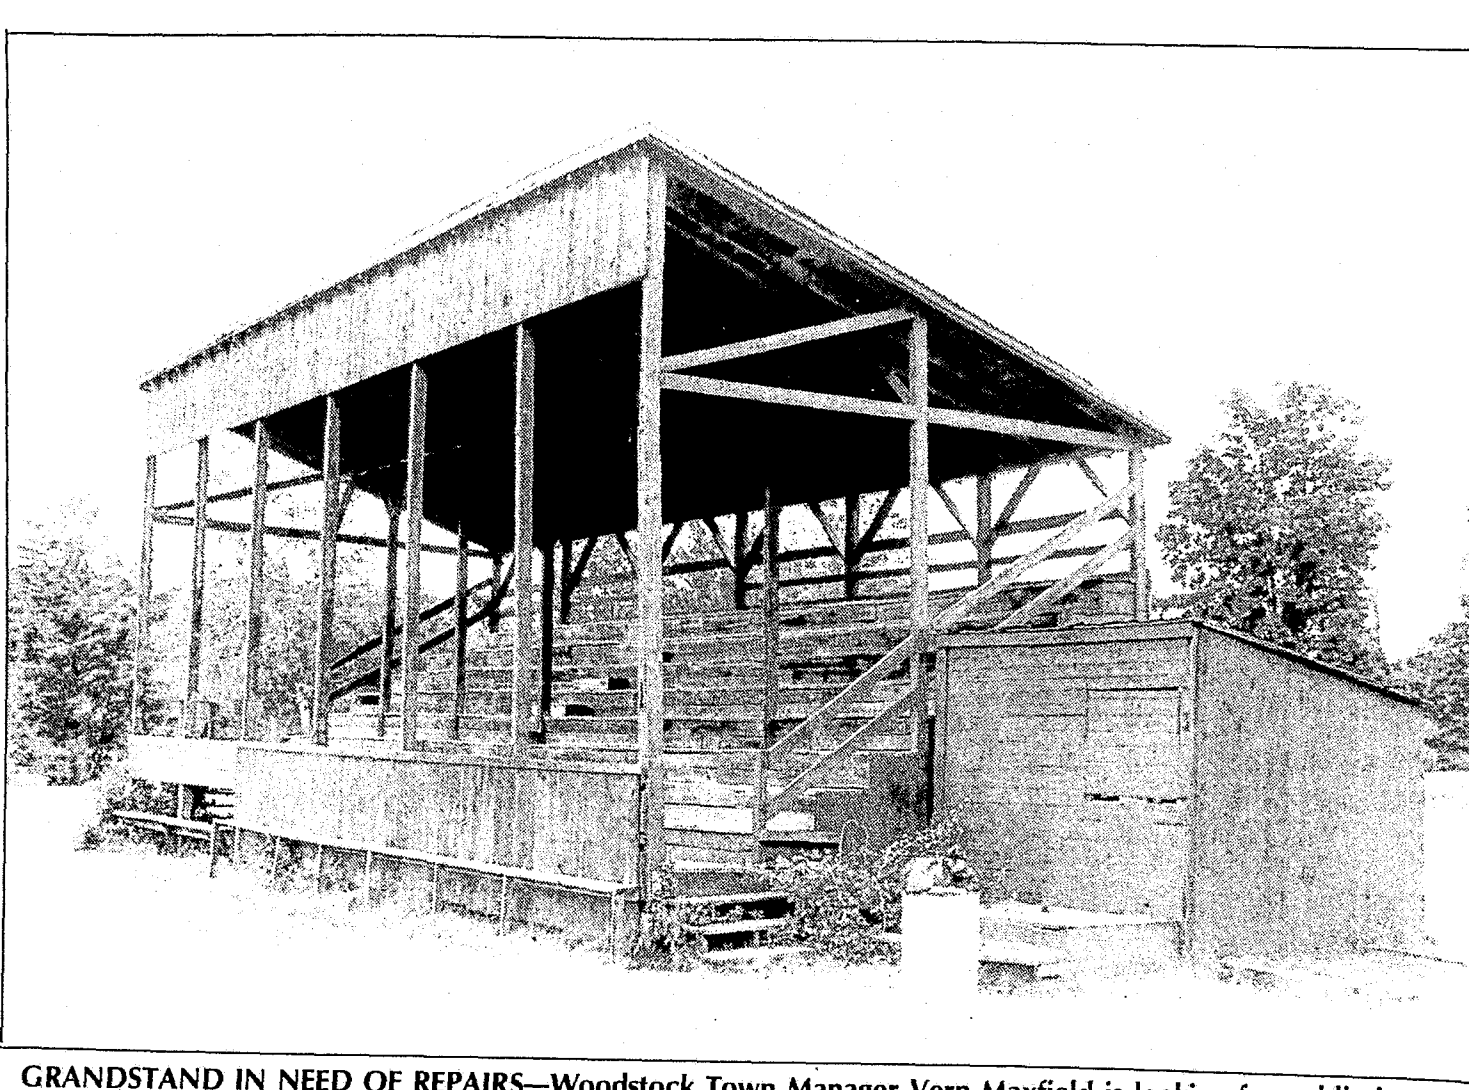

Rotary Club notes
Dr. David Smith, chiropractor, one of our newest members, was guest speaker at the Tuesday, July 30, breakfast meeting. He spoke on the topic of steroids and especially the dangers of using them. He would be happy to share this information with anyone who is interested in the topic. President Dave Murphy auctioned off a few gift certificates left over from the pre-Mollycokett Day auction. He also thanked all the Rotarians that helped out with that very busy weekend.
Among the guests were Dan Reich, Bethel attorney; Ira Pitcher, Lewiston-Auburn; Gil Robinson, summer regular; Frank Boynton, Woodstock; Tom McGinniss, Bethel; Mike Thurston, Rumford; and Bob Archie, Olympia, Wash.

BETHEL SENIOR CITIZENS
The Bethel Senior Citizens will meet at Stony Brook (Powell's) camp area in Hanover, on Aug. 14, for the annual picnic, beginning at 11 a.m. Please bring a lawn chair, and also salad, etc. The Brown Bag Auction will take place to help raise money.
We are going on a trip to Wiscasset on Aug. 21. We will visit the Maine Yankee Power Plant and more. Price is $20. Please contact Helen at 836-3192 or Lindsey Wieden at 824-3276, as we have to know as soon as possible. We need 30 people. Thank you for helping!

Task force notes—
The Bethel Area Task Force met Sunday evening at the Bethel Inn Conference Center and much of the discussion was on the Education and Cultural Committee progress.
The Highland Concert is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 13, at 12:15 a.m. on the lawn of the NTL Conference Center, with a rain backup at the Congregational Church. Following the concert discussion will be on how they are an integral part of their community development.
Focus groups are being formed in preparation for the Community Conference this fall. There are groups tailored to fit each individuals' needs. You can find out more about how this is being organized and how to participate by contacting anyone on the committee. A list is available at the Holiday House or by attending a Task Force meeting this Sunday night, Aug. 11.

Health Center
A Community Awareness Forum on Domestic Violence is planned for Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. at the Bethel Area Health Center.
The program will be a basic overview of the topic of domestic violence

GRANDSTAND IN NEED OF REPAIRS—Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield is looking for public input on the possibility of repairing or tearing down the Woodstock grandstand. Selectmen have discussed the issue and estimate it would cost $5,000 to $6,000 to repair the grandstand and $12,000 to tear it down and rebuild it. Maxfield said the town has not appropriated any money for the grandstand's repair. He said selectmen are hoping that townspeople will volunteer to serve on a fundraising committee for the project. Anyone interested in serving on the committee is asked to contact the town office.

including the causes, effects, community impact and laws.
It will also present an opportunity for interested persons to volunteer to become involved in the Safer Families Program. The Safer Families Program is the domestic violence project offered through the Bethel Area Health Center. The Community Awareness Forum is presented by the Safer Families Program and the trainers are from the Abused Women's Advocacy Program of Auburn. The Forum is open to the public. For more information please call Lynn Boschetti at the Bethel Area Health Center.

The Health Center will be offering blood pressure/blood cholesterol screenings on Monday, Aug. 12 from 4-8 p.m. and Wednesday, Aug. 14 from 2-5 p.m.
There are not walk-in clinics—appointments need to be made through the Bethel Area Health Center (824-2193) to avoid a wait. The appointment lasts from 10-15 minutes and costs $4.
The exercise program at the Health Center will be expanding hours starting in September. We hope to be open more often at times that are convenient to the majority of our members. We are looking for someone who is interested in monitoring the exercise room from 6-8 a.m., Monday through Friday.

There will be no more official orientation classes until Sept. 4, but anyone desiring membership in the exercise program can call the Health Center to try to set up an individual orientation. The fall will also bring the resumption of exercise classes which will be announced in the near future.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

"Speaking the truth in love, we are to grow up in every way into him who is the head, into Christ." (Ephesians 4:15)

I do believe that it is only by "speaking the truth in love" that we can grow into Christian community, or any community. What a challenge this is. There are times when we love our brothers and sisters, but sit on any truth about our reactions or about ourselves, or our real beliefs because we are afraid. We are afraid we will hurt the other's feelings if our "truth" is negative. We are even afraid to express our appreciation and affirmation of each other because that makes us feel vulnerable, or we take others for granted.

What is the truth and what is this love? The truth is what comes from our own hearts and minds and spirits. This love is at least the goodwill we have for the other and at best our recognition of the God given worth of each of us. When we speak the truth in love we hold each other accountable and we build bridges of trust and caring between ourselves and others.

When we speak the truth in love we had better be prepared to hear some truth, for this is not a one-way conversation, whether with another, with ourselves, or with God. We need to be prepared for finding our perception of the truth radically changed.

How does all this work out in our lives? If we feel that internal pressure to speak up, we might want to pause to ask why. Do we want to get even with someone? Make ourselves look good at another's expense? Teach him a lesson? Set her straight? Better look more deeply into ourselves. Does that shortcoming we were about to mention belong also to us and that is why we recognized it? "It takes one to know one" after all. Or, on the other hand, do we want to have a cleaner, closer relationship with that other? Then we might risk expressing our true reactions—whether annoyance, disappointment, or whatever "negative," or our gratitude or admiration or other "positive." As the other responds, the situation may look different and we have gained a new perspective.

In our church group, do we all pretend to believe exactly the same, or dare we risk expressing our true beliefs? Can we listen to the beliefs of others without trying to "correct" them? As we are more willing to be vulnerable, we may be able to move towards that unity of faith, the maturity that St. Paul presents to the Ephesians.

Dare we speak the truth in love to ourselves? Or do we refuse to acknowledge even to ourselves what we really feel—angry, guilty, disillusioned, helpless or whatever. If so, then we are unlikely to discover our gratitude, hope, joy and peace that also lie hidden below these other feelings.

Above all, can we speak the truth in love of God? Or must we pretend and go through the motions, putting on our Sunday best to pray. We can share our disappointments and frustrations or loneliness with God, as well as our thanksgiving and praise and petitions. We can take time when we pray to listen for God's response, whether it comes from the God within or the transcendent God.

To speak the truth in love opens up the possibility of God's healing. Our relationship with self, with others and with God are all involved. This loving truthful way enriches and builds up our communities. The more truth we speak, the more truth we discover. Love is never ending. The rewards are worth the risk.

Obituaries

RUBY M. HUTCHINS

Ruby M. Hutchins, 74, died Monday, July 29, 1991 at her home in Rumford Point, where she had lived all of her life.

She was born in Hanover, April 28, 1917, the daughter of Daniel and Hattie Hart McPherson. She was educated in local schools. She was married in Rumford Center on March 6, 1936 to Irving B. Hutchins; he died in Rumford Oct. 2, 1988.

She is survived by a son, James E. Hutchins of Hooksett, N.H.; two grandsons; and three brothers, Charles and Elwood McPherson, each of Rumford and Gilbert McPherson of Florida.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Meader & Son Funeral Home, 3 Franklin Street, Rumford with Rev. Linda Shevlin officiating. Interment in Hanover Cemetery, Hanover.

Births

Kyle and Rachel Curtis of Locke Mills are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby boy, Casey Andrew Curtis, born on July 23, 1991 at 1:16 p.m. at Stephens Memorial Hospital, weighing 8 lbs. 1 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Tracy and Ken Grover and Michael Pawlock of Bethel.

Paternal grandparents are Robert and Donna Curtis of Bethel.

Casey joins a brother Caitlin Ryan age 21 months.

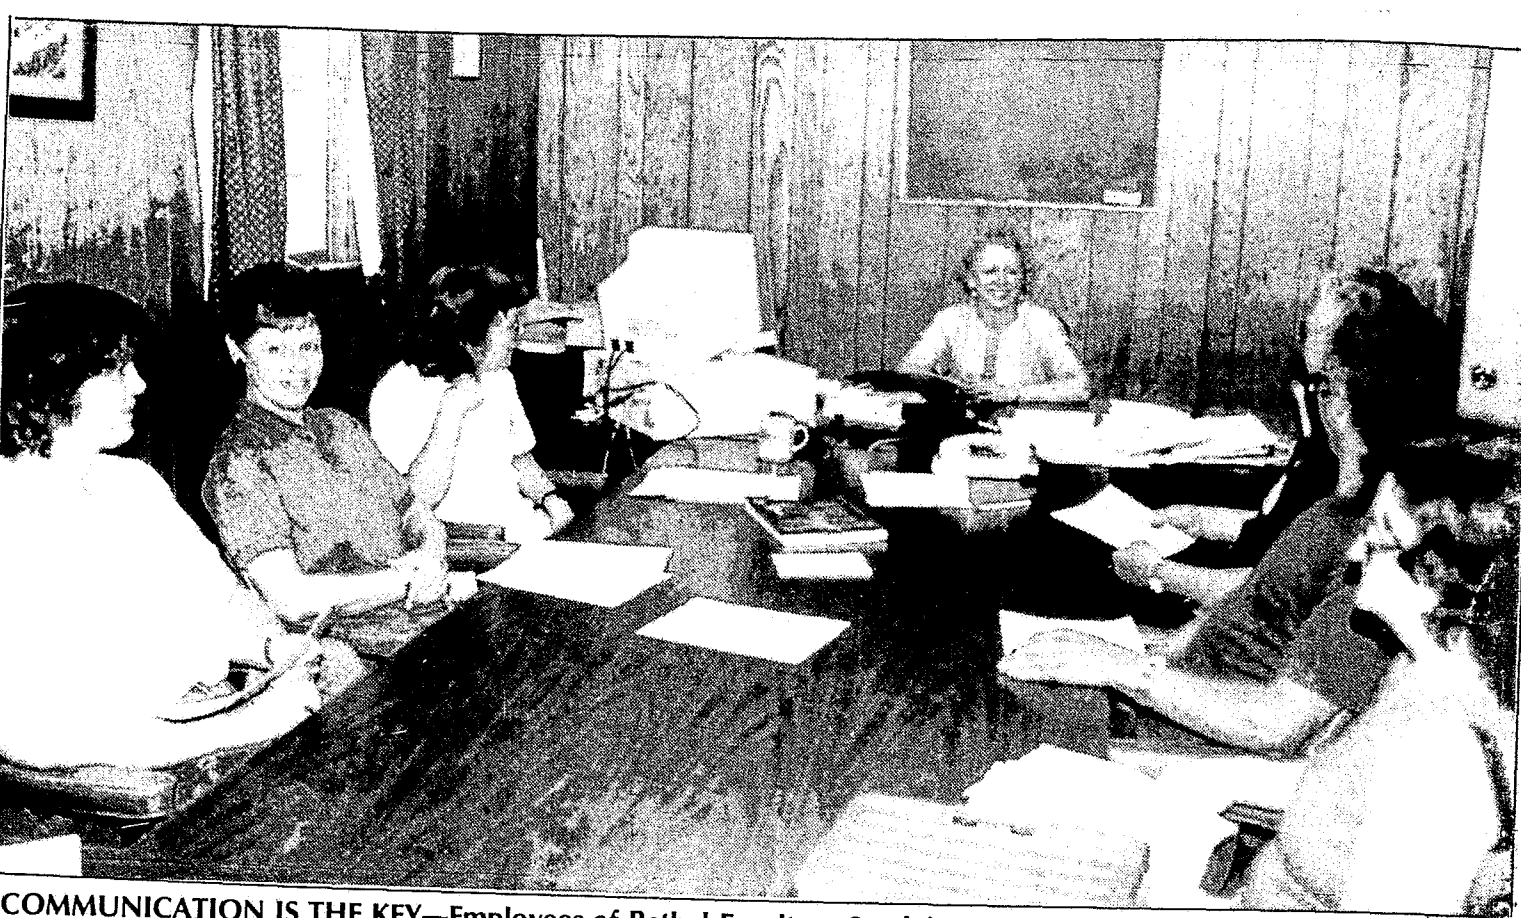

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the many friends of the Bethel area and of the NTL community for their caring expressions of sympathy and support in the passing of my mother.

In Memoriam In Loving Memory of Eugene Buswell

on his Birthday, August 10
Memories are treasures no one can steal. Memories are heartaches no one can heal. Some may forget you now that you've gone, but we will remember you no matter how long. To your grave we often wander, the flowers we place with loving care, but no one knows the heartache as we turn and leave you lovingly remembered and sadly missed by your Wife, Children, and Grandchildren

COMMUNICATION IS THE KEY—Employees of Bethel Furniture Stock in West Bethel have been offered a variety of educational courses as part of Project Rural Workplace. The program is designed to fight illiteracy in the workplace. Mill employees are also offered brush-up courses in math and other workplace-related skills. Wendy Pollock has been conducting a class on communications at the mill. Here, Nancy Hanscom, left, Jackie Roberts, Lois Ruff, Pollock, Lynden Grover and Lloyd and Rita Sweetser crack the books.

CARD OF THANKS

Many thanks to Leona Flint of Main Street, Bethel for her generous donation to the Bethel Area Task Force.

CARD OF THANKS

Well, it's time for me to say goodbye to all of you. But, I just wanted to say thank you to all of the people who have made my time in Bethel so special. I'm not sure how I will manage the next couple of years without all of you. I love you all and will always remember the times we've shared together. Thanks.

The Everlasting Light
Those we love must someday pass beyond our present sight... must leave us and the world we know without their radiant light. But we know like a candle their lovely light will shine to brighten up another place more perfect... more divine. And in the realm of Heaven where they shine so warm and bright, our loved ones live forevermore in God's eternal light.
